SOERABAJA

Soerabaja, situaterl $112^{\circ} 44^{\prime}$ E. Iongitude and $7^{\circ} 14^{\prime}$ S. latitude, has 146,944 inhabitants' of whom 8,906 are Europeans, 13,035 Chinese, 2,791 Arabs, 326 other foreign Orientals, and 121,886 natives. The voyage from Batavia to Soerabaja can be done in two days by the railway, which extends to Panaroekan on the North coast and to Banjoewangi on the East coast. The old city is not like that of Batavin, deserted during the night, but is the most busy part of the place. The fortifications that were built at enormous expense are now partially demolished. The roadstead is very safe and protected by the island of Madoera and trade is in a flourishing condition, the godowns near the Oedjoeng being in direct communication by rail with the large railway that extends all over the island to Semarang and Batavia. A steam tramway for passenger traffic extends from south to north, also is far to the southwest as Krian. A second connection by rail to Samarang was opened on the 1st of lebruary 1903, this line being a narrow gauge, so-called tramway of the usual width of 3 feet $6 \frac{1}{2}$ inches ( 1.067 m .), hiving however the capacity of an ordinary railway with limited volocity. Government workshops and private manufactories do very much to increase the welfare of the industrious population, among whom are a great many Dutchmen employed by the artillery establishments. Between the Kali Mas and the floating dock are the naval establishments for the construction and repairing of ships and vessels, machinery, boilers, etc., etc.

A great many Europeans are still residing in the old city, though the outer part is preferred and has the reputation of being healthier, while the houses are not built close to each other but are separated by gardens. The suburb Simpang is especially well known. Here is situated the house of the Resident and the well-known large hospital. Along the Genteng loarl, which forms the communication with Soerabaja, several fine houses are built in European style and surrounded loy shady gardens.

SEMARANG

Semarang is situated in $110^{\circ} 25^{\prime}$ E. longitude and $6^{\circ} 58^{\prime} \mathrm{S}$. latitude. The population consists of 4,800 Europeans, 12,372 Chinese, 724 Arals, 964 other foreign Orientals, and 70,426 natives, total 89,286 . The old city is small, with narrow streets and lanes. On the west side of the river are the residence of the Regent, the Mosque, the Post and Telegraph Office, the Hospital, the Govermment House containing the Offices of the Resident, the Court of Justice, and different other Government offices.

The ruilway from Semarang to Djogjokarta is extended to the new harbour canal, so that travellers arriving in the roadstead can continue the journey to the interior without delay at Semarang. The roads of Semarang do not afford the same accommodation as the harbour of Tandjong l'riok, but the view of the city and surroundings is very fine. So called steam tramways, being in fact light railways with quite a considerable capacity, both for goods and passenger traffic extend from Semarang westward, along the coast as far as Cheribon, and further on up-country to a place called Kadipaten ; and also to the eastern parts of the residency Semarang and the residency Rembang, also to Soerabaja as mentioned above.

PADANG

Padang, the capital of the West Coast of Sumatra, is situated $100^{\circ} 20^{\prime}$ E. longitude and 58 ' S. latitude. The population is 38,911 , of whom 1,234 are Europeans, 7,914 Chinese, 239 Arabs, 1,182 other foreign Orientals, and 28,342 natives. The abundant vegetation, the extensive cocoanut plantations, and pleasant lanes give the impression of a large park or an immense native village, in which a few European bungalows are built. The bungalows are constructed of woorl and bamboo, the floor is raised .some feet above the ground, and the roofs are covered with tapa leaves. The mountain .scenery in the background and the large plan on which the place is designed, make Padang one of the most pleasant towns of Netherlands India, though the public buildings and private residences do not have a grand appearance. Padang is one of the most healthy coast places, land and sea winds contributing very much to lower the temperature.

To the south of Padang is the Emma Haven, a seaport in communication by rail with Padang and with the Ombilien coal-fields, and where steamers can always anchor in perfect safety. Excellent arrangements have been made for coaling, so that :annually 200,000 tons of coal can be shipped.

MAKASSER

Makasser, the capital of Celebes and dependencies, is situated $119^{\circ} 24^{\prime} \mathrm{E}$. Jongitude and $5^{\circ} 8^{\prime} \mathrm{S}$. latitude. The population numbers 21,399 , of whom 942 are Luropeans, 4,202 Chinese, 119 Arabs, 92 other foreign Orientals and 16,044 natives. As the principal centre of the trade in the North-Eastern part of the Archipelago the place has great importance. A new quay, 500 metres long, is in course of construction, together with new custom houses and entrepots. Makasser is to be closed as a free port, remaining open for general trade. The fort Rotterdam commands the roadstead and the northern and southern entrances. The place is nicely built, a fine lane with tamarind trees forming the thoroughfare of the principal part, where the Government House and other public buildings are situated, and leading on both sides to large squares covered with grass, the Konings Plein and Prins Hendrik Plein. The busy part of the place is Passar Street, where houses with colonnades give the impression of a town of southern Europe. Near the European Settlement the natives have made their villages. The surrounding country is low and marshy and covered with rice-fields and kampongs. The mountains, with the leak of Bonthain in the distance, afford a fine view, especially in the evening when they are not covered by the fogs that rise from the plains.

THE EAST COAST OF SUMATRA

This part of the Last-Coast of the Island of Sumatra is situated between theGovermment of Acheen and its Dependencies in the North, the Straits of Malacca in the East, Indragiri (a part of the liesidency of hiouw and its dependencies) in the South, and the independent Gajoo, Mlas, Batak and Malay States of the centre of Sumatra in the West. It includes a great number of semi-independent States, each of which is ruled by a native Prince or Chief who, according to his rank and dependency, is styled, Sultan, Yang di Pertuan, Kedjuruan, Rajah, Datu, etc. The country is administered by a Resident, four Assistant-Residents, fourteen Controleurs and threo Assistant-Controleurs. Justice is dispensed by the Landraad of Medan and Bindjei, Tandjung Balei and Bengkalis, the Residency court at Medan, the Magistrates and by native courts or Karapattan. Leading cases are tried at latavia. The staple industry of the country is Agriculture and Mining, and this being dependent upon imported labour (Chinese and Javanese), the labour question is carefully guarded by a special coolie ordinance. All coolies are indentured under advances. The employer must house his people properly, provide them with medical attendance and food when sick, and monthly payments are compulsory. Land is leased from the ruling prince or chief of the district for a certain number of years, so much per bahu or per acre being paid down, and f 1 . per bahu or per ace per annum being paid as annual quittance.

The supremacy of the Duteh Government is based upon political treaties with each of the Princes, in whose hands is left the jurisdiction over their own sul,jects, except so far as relates in the infliction of the death penalty and the disposal of land or landed property. Land contracts with Europans, while made between the ruling prince and the concessionaire, are subject to the approval of the Resident. Mining contracts require the approval of the Governor-General of the Netherlands-Indies. In all the States the Datch Govermment has bought the right to collect the customs duties and the ordinary revenues. Land revenue, collected by Govermmentofficials, is at the disposal of the native rulers and his chiefs. The principal State on the last-Coast of Sumatra, both from the rank of its ruler and historically, is Siak. 'The best known of the States however is Deli, where tobacco planting was first introluced, and by which name tho whole of the East-Coast is sometimes designated. Deli, Langkat, Serdang, Assahan, and other cobacco-growing districts, are celebrated throughout the world for their tine silky tobacco leaf, which is specially fitted for the outside wrappers of cigars, being at once light in weight and elastic and strong in texture. The leading tobaceo company is the Deli Maatschappij, which for 26 years has paid a dividend averaging 75 per cent. per annmm. The minor agricultural products are Liberian coffee, cocoanuts and pepper. Jungle produce, formerly exported considerably, is getting scarcer, by reason of the jungle being felled for the purpose of planting tobacco. The production of paddy, though considerable, falls short of the demand by many thousand bags, which are mostly imported from; the Straits Settlements. Of all the different states Asahan only is in a position to export a large quantity of paddy to the Straits Sattlements. Kerosine oil is exported from Langkat to the Straits Settlements, British India, Hongkong, Siam and Chinn. This article is of importance for that district, and is still more promising for the future. Almost all necessaries of life have to be imported, and a brisk trade between Java, the Straits Settlements and the Last-Const is the consequence Medan (1)eli), the residence of the highest civilandmilitaryoficials, isapleasantlittle town, lail out in a modern style, the streets fitted up with electric light. A splendid architectural Government House has been built for the liesident in the new quarter of Polonia. Tn the towntwo banking corporations- the Nederlandsche Handel Maatschappij and the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and Chim-have their banches. There is a rery good Hotel, two Clubs, a hace-club, numerous houses of husiness, Chinese, Japanese, Indian, Malay, Bombay and Kling shops, etc. The port of Belawan Deli, on the Belawan River; is in communication with Medan by railway, the lines of which extend a long distance up country and the North giving also communication with Tandjoeng Poera. Other important ports are those of Pangkalan Brandan, Tandjong Balei, Bengkalis, Bagan Api $\Lambda_{\text {pi }}$ and Siak.

The population of this Residency amountel in 1900 to 2,079 Europeans, 103,768: Chinese, 365 Arabs, 8,843 other Urientals, and 306,035 natives; total 421,090.

THE PHILIPPINES.

The Philippines, discovered by the lortuguese Fernamlo de Magalhaes (Magellan) are a rich and beautiful group of islands, situate between lat. 5 and 22 deg. N., and long. 117 and 127 deg. E. They are surrounded on the north and west by the Chinia Sea, on the east by the Pacitic, and on the south by the Celebes Sea. The islands are over a thousand in number and contain an area of 114,000 English square miles, with a population, in 1903, of $7,635,426$ souls. The American troops in the Philippines in 1900 numbered 60,000 and a small naval force. The principal islands are divided into twenty-six provinces, thirteen of which are on the Isle of Luzon, four on the Isle of Negros, three on Panay, and three on the Isle of Mindanao. The islands were formally annexed to the Crown of Spain in 156\%. The first Governor was Don Miguel Lopez de Legaspi.

The early history of the I'hilippines is a recorl of continual trouble. Conflicts between the civil and ecclesiastical authorities led to internal contentions, while both Portugal ind the Netherlands coveted these rich possessions and harassed the Spaniards. In 1606 the 1 utch blockaded the ports with five ships, which were, however, destroyed by the Spanish fleet. Attacks were also mate at different points hy powerful Chinese piaticai Heets. The most celehrated of these was the invasion ly lii Ma Hon, who with 2,060 men landed at Manila in $15 \pi$, but was defeated and driven out lef the Spaniards and natives, under the leadership of Juan de Salcedo. In 1762 the capital was taken by the English, the private property of the inhabitants being saved from phunder on the condition of the payment of a ransom of $£ 1,000,000$ sterling, half of which was paid in money and the other half in bills upon the Spanish Treasury. In the meantime, however, peace had been concluded, and the islands were restored to Spain, payment of the balance of the indemnity not being insisted upon.

After the discovery of the islands, ecclesiastics flocked to them in large numbers and undisturbed by the attacks on Spanish authority, the work of converting the natives was carried on with great vigour. The religious orders in a short time acquired great power and becane in effect the dominant authority. The clergy before the capture of Manila by the Americans (since when many have left) numbered about two thousand, and most of the natives brought under suljection profess the Roman Catholic religion. In the Philippines there has been little of that cruelty to the aboriginal population which so often characterises the process of colonization, and the natives appeared in general contented and well conducted, the priests exercising the almost unbounded iufluence they possessed with great effect in the preservation of order. There was, however, an undercurrent of seditions feeling, and after attempts made to throw of the Spanish yoke in 1829, 1841, 1842, 1872, and 1896, the Insurgents' opportunity came in 1898, when, upon the outbreak of hostilities between the United States and Spain, they offered to co-operate with the former. The offer was accepted, with the result that while Americans took and held the city of Manila the Jusurgents overthrew Spanish authority throughout the remainder of the island of luzon and established a Government of their own with General Aguinaldo as Dictator. By the Hispano-American treaty of peace the whole of the Philippine Archipelago was ceded to the Cnited Siates, but this arrangement was not acquiesced in by the Insurgents, who clamed independence, and the United States had to cary on a war of suljugation. In the inaccessible mountainous parts of the islands there are still tribes of aboriginal savages, but their number is comparatively small. There is a considerable number of mestizos or half-castes, some of whon are the chikdren of European fathers by native mothers and some the children of Chinese fathers.

The public revenue prior to the subversion of Spanish rule was about $$ 15,000,000$, of which the larger part was raised from direct taxes, Customs, and monopolies.

The chief articles of produce are sugar, hemp, tobace, and coffee. The foreign trade was confined to the ports of Manila, Dloilo, Cebm, and Zamboanga, but on January 1st, $19(90)$, all the ports throughout Luzon were thrown open to trade.

The climate of the lhilippines varies little from that of other places in the same latitude. The range of the thermoneter during the year is from a little over sixty degrees to about ninety. The year may be divided into three seasons, the first, cold and dry, commences in November; the second, warm but still dry, commences in March, the greatest heat being experienced from $\Lambda_{p}$ ril to the end of May, and the thirl, which is excessively wet, continues from June to the middle of November. During the rainy season inundations of rivers are frequent and travelling in the interior almost impossible. Long-continued droughts, however, sometimes occur, when the ground becomes parched and the crops are utterly destroyed.' Husbandry also suffers from the ravages of locusts, which will sometimes almost entirely denude is whole province of herbage. The principal part of the group comes within the range of the typhoons, and terrific storms are of frequent occurrence. The islants are also the centre of great voleanic action. "The destructive ravages and changes produced by earthquakes," says Sir John Bowring, writing in 1859, "are nowhere nore remarkahle than in the Philippines. They have overturned mountans, they have filled up valleys, they have desolated extensive plains; they have opened passages from the sea to the interior, and from the lake into the sea. There are many traditional stories of these territorial revolutions, but of late disasters the records are trustworthy. That of 1796 was sadly calamitous. In 1824 many churches in Manila were destroyed, together with the principal bridge, the barracks, great numbers of private houses; and a chasm opened of nearly four miles in length. The inhabitants all fled into the fields, and six vessels in the port were wrecked. The number of victims was never ascertained. In 1828, during another earthquake, the vibration of the lampswas found to describe an are of four and a half feet; the huge corner stomes of the principal gate of the city were displaced ; the great hells were set ringing. It lasted between two and three minutes, rent the walls of several churches and other buildings, but was not accompanied by subterranem noises, as is usually the case." In 1832, 1852, 1863, 186!, and 1880 there were terrible shocks of earthquake and, in 1891, in the Province of Pangasinan, shocks were continually repeaterl during a month, shaking down buildings, erushing their immates, and creating a panic among the inhalitants.

The local storms that come in the months of May and June, the period of the greatest heat, are at times very severe. On the 29th May, 1873, there was one of sufficient force to destroy within the walls of Minilia alome forty-one dwellings. Typhoms also sweep over the islands in great fury and the one of the 20th October, 1882, left thousands without shelter, the wind in its fury tearing down many of the native huts as well as more solid structures in brick and stone ; floods were caused by the heavy rain, and great loss of life and property resulted.

The Philippine Archipelago is divided into three great groups of islands called Luzon, Visayas or lisisyas, and Mindanao. Luzon includes the provinces of Manila, Bulacan, Pampanga, Tarlae, Zanbales, Bataan, New Eeija, Pangusinan, North Ilooos, Abra, Union, New Yiscaya, Cagayan, Latuna, Batangas, Tayalbas, Albay, North and South Canarines, Sorsugon, and the districts of Principe, Lepanto, Bontoe, Benguet. Morong, and Infanta, and the adjacent islands Babuyanes and Batames on the North, Polillo, Alhal)at, Catanduanes, and Marianas on the Last, Mindoro, Burias, Masbate, and Marinduque on the South, and Calamianes, Papraguay, and Balabac, on the East. The second group, the Bisayas or Yisayas, is made up of Celu, Bohol, Samar, Leyte, and the island of Negros with its districts Capiz, Romblon, Jloilo, and Conception, and of the adjacent islands Sibuyan, Banton, Tablas, Luciara, Maestro de Campo, Bantayan, Jauis, and Camote to the North and N'E., and of the island of Vuego or Siquijor to the South. The third group, or sea of Mindano, is divided into the districts of Zimbhanga, Misamis, Suriago, New Guipuzgoa, Davan Bislig, and Basilan, with the adjacent islands Camiguin, Caburao, Duiagat Asgino, (Oyarzal, and Viver, to the N.E.; Siluanga and General on the Bast ; Buentua, 'Tengquil, Balanguingi, and Sulu with all the islands that make up the group of that name in the S.E. Altugether there are estimated to be 1,200 islands in the Philippine Archipelago. Its wealth of timber is incalculable, yielding resins, gums, mastich-pastes, dye-products, fine-grained ornamental woocls, also heary timber suitable for building purposes. There are also mines in aboudance in Mencayan and Lepanto. In Lupac and Agbas copper is found and copper and iron pyrites in Suyne. In Paracale and North Lamarines there are veins of gold worked ly the natives. In the rivers of Sapan, Casiguran, and New Ecija there are found gold pyrites of goond quality, ind in Mambulao and Camarines there are some gold mines in operation. A considerable anount of prospecting has been done in the isflands, resulting in some small finds of Gold. Experts, however, seem to be of opinion that though (fold and other minerals are to be found in the islands they will not pay the expense of working on a large scale. Coal may possibly be an exception. Since the arrival of the Americans petroleum has been discosered, and good success is reported to have attended the work of some prospectors. There are many hot springs of iron and sulphur waters, all of excellent medicinal properties. The famous "Holy Waters" of Tuii and Sibu are visitell every yeir in large numbers by the islanders seeking relief from their sufterings. The endemic complaints of the country are swamp fever, diarrhoa, beri-beri, and a few others. Incurable leprosy is very limited among the natives. The mortality is low, considering the number of inhabitants.

Dr. Augustin de la Cavada, a Spanish historian, says of the natives that they are of a midd, submissive, and respectful disposition, predisposed to religious observances, extremely superstitious, and very hospitahle. Those of Batangas, Cagayan, and Southern Ilocos are better workers and more industrions than those of the other Provinces. During their youth they work with energy and it certain intellectual vigour, but on reaching a more advanced age they lose a large part of their disposition for work and lapse into an indolence that is one of their greatest defects. The women are averse to idleness and have a spivit of enterprise, and they often engage in various trades with success. They are economical and sacrifice themselves with delight for the sake of those for whom they feel any affection.

The rivers and streams of the lhilippines are countless and traverse the islands in all directions, the natural result of mountan peaks and ranges that extend over a large area.

The most noteworthy volemoes are liuheyan in Mindanao, Taal in Batangas, and Bulusan and Mayon in Albay. The last is in continual cruption and at times creates terror in the surrounding country, on account of the quantity of loiling water, ashes, and lava it throws out. In 1872 an eruption of this volcano destroyed entirely the villages of Malinao, Camalig, (Guinobatan, Ligao, Polangui, and Albay.

The Civil Commission, appointed in 1900 , voted the same year $$ 1,000,000$ gold for the improvement of Manila Harbour, and a somewhat comprehensive school measure was introduced and perfected ly this Commission. It was decided that the English language should form the basis of the instruction given, and a system of distriet superintendence was established. In the municipal civil governments provision was made for local boards to supervise the work of the schools. ()ver 500 skillerl teachers from the United States arrived in 1901, followed by over 1,000 in 1902. A compulsory school attendance clause was incorporated in the bill. Money was appropriated not only for the building of moreand necessary school buildings but for the institution of normal schools for the training of native teachers.

Hirbour works, including docks at the mouth of the river on the south side, and also for the increasing of wharf and warehouse accommodation, by the demolition of part of the old city walls along the river front, are in active progress. These works will enormously benefit the trade of Manila.

British interests in the Philippines are much larger than currently supposed. There are about twenty British firms in Manila, many of them of long stinding in the islands. Their importance will, perhaps, be best gauged by the fact that two out of the three banking establishments in the city are branches of well-known British corporations. They include the largest import and export firms, but engineering works, ship repairing, stevedoring, and many other industries are also represented. The larger firms have branches in most of the provincial ports as well as rice and sugar mills up country. The only railway in the Philippines, that from Manila to Dagupan, the port of the rice-producing district of the island, is the property of aritish company, und many undertakings with foreign names are carried on mainly by British energy and capital. Now other railway schemes are being introduced under American control. Taking into account the numerous insurance, shipping, and other firms for which local firms are agents, it will be evident that lhitish interests in the Philippines run into millions.

The naval authorities lave undertaken a very necessary work, namely that of surveying the local waters, and preparing new charts, the old existing charts leing very inaccurate.

As regards the trade of the islands there are still many serious difficulties to contend with; lack of capital and labour; to a large extent, handicaps agricultural and commercial development, capital from the Unitel States mot being attracted, and the admission of Chinese labour heing prohibited. The British Consul in a report remarks: "An enormous increase is noticeable in the case of exports to the United States, shipments thither being treble the value of those of the precerling yenr, while there is a decrease in the case of all other countries. This result is mainly due to the fact that ly $\Lambda$ ct of Congress, Mareh, 1902, all articles, the growth and produce of the Philippines ndmitted into the United States free of duty, are now eligible for a return of the export duty imposed in the P'hilippines so long as shipped to the United States direct, and proof be submitted of their importation and consumption there."

The articles of imports into the Philippines of which the United States are now furnishing notably more than any other coantry, are:-Art works, including paintings and statuary, watches, glass and glassware, telegraph and other electrical machinery, pipes and fittings, stoves and ranges, trunks and valises, plated ware, agricultural implements, saws, wheat, flour, raw cotton, honey, pumps and pump machinery, safes, unmanufactured leather, malt liquors, wooden ware, oil cloth, patent and proprietary medicines, printers' ink, typewriting machinery, scales and balances, harness and saddles, paper, varnish, wool, carpets and lubricating oils.

The United Kingdom leads in the following:--Iron and steel, and their finished furms (taken as a whole), condensed milk, tea, zinc and manufactures; copper and its finished forms, window glass, sap, turpentine, fertilizers, cotton goods (taken as a whole), butter, stemm vessels, paints, pigments and colours, linseed oil.

Germany leads in the following:-Brass and its finished forms, chemicals, drug, (except opium), and dyes, needles, pins and surgical instruments, firearms, lamps furniture, barley, hops, rails for railways, printing presses, pianos and organs, wearing apparel (woollen), woollen yarn, celluloid and its products, hats and caps, builders' hardware, cutlery, sewing machines, woollen cloth, laundry machines.

The total trade in 1003 was $$ 33,811,384$ for imports and $$ 32,386,7+6$ for exports.
The policy of the United States towards the Philippines was defined by President Roosevelt in his message to Congress in llecember 190-4. "At present" he said "the Philippine people are utterly incapable of existing in independence at all, or of building up a civilisation of their own. I firmly believe we ean help them to rise higher and higher in the scale of civilisation and of capacity for self-government, and most earnestly hope that in the end they will be able to stand, if not entirly alone, yet in some such relation to the United States as Cuba now stands." Tho President in his message recommendel giving to the Islands lower tariff rates on their exports to the United States and laped for the immediate cmatment of legislation to encourage American capital to seek investment in the Islands in railroads, in factories, in plantations, and in lumbering and mining.

MANILA

Manila, the capital of the Philippines, is situated on the western side of the island of Luzon, at the mouth of the river Pasig, which empties itself into the Bay of Manila, and the city is now held ly the forces of the United States. War having been declared between the United States and Spain, the fleet of the former on the 1st May, 1898, sailed into Manila lay and totally destroyed the Spanish Heet, practically with no loss to the attacking side. Thereafter the city was hlockaded until the 13th August, when, a Military force having arrived, the Americans took possession after an almost unresisted assault.

The city was founded in 1571. In 1645 it was almost entirely destroyed by an earthquake, in which upwards of three hundred lives were lost. In 1863 is great part of the city was again destroyed from the same cause, and in. July, 1880, another terrible upheaval made wreck of a great portion of it. The inhabitants are naturally in constant fear of these visitations. The dwelling-houses are built with especial reference to safety under such circumstances, and, although large, possess few pretensions to architectural beaty. The city is practically divided into two parts, the official or walled city being built on the left bank of the Pasig river, while the commercial city is situated on the island of Binondo, which forms the right bank of the same river. The Lscolta, the main business street, traverses this suburb, and in it most of the European stores and bazairs are to be found. The lozario, another broad thoroughfare in Binondo, is occupied chiefly by Chinese shops, and is a busy quarter. San Miguel is the aristocratic suburb, being the seat of the residences of the wealthy merchants and other residents. Around the walls and the edge of the bay is a fashionable drive lined with almond trees, where the well-to-do inhabitants walk, drive, and meet their friends. The architecture of Manila is not imposing, successive earthquakes having wrought much damage, and the city has an old-world aspect, tempered by its tropical surroundings. The streets present the greatest animation in the evening, when the cigar factories are closed and the cariages of the upper clases are out for the customary promenade. There are several ancient churches which are worthy of notice. The Catherdral, founded originally in 1578, has been several times destroyed by earthquakes and did not escape in 1863. It has been since rebuilt, but again sustained considerable damage in 1880 , when the tower was so much shattered that it had to be pulled down. There are several theatres, but none worthy of the place. The opera is well supported in Manila. A statue of Charles IV. stands in the centre of the Palacio Square, and one of Isabella II. opposite to the Variediales Theatre. The Observatory, admirably managed by the Jesuit Fathers, is well worthy of a visit. There is a good English Club ard an American Club. Of the lootels the Metropole is the principal, but there is a dearth of good hotels, though plans are at present under way for building a colossal hotel to take the place of the Hotel Oriente which was sold in 1903 to the lhilippine Govermment for offices. The city and its suburlss contain a population of 300,000 and are the seat of a considerable and yearly increasing commerce. The principal articles of export are hemp, sugar, tobacco, cigars, coffee, and indigo, while of the imports cotton goods form the chief item. The anchorage is clistant some three miles from the shore. The river presents a scene of great animation, being crowded with native craft interspersed with vessels of foreign louild. The hot season commences in March and continues until July. The rains commence in August and continue to December, during which time the roads and streets get into a very bad condition. The maximum innual rainfall recorded is 114 inches and the minimum 84 inches. The maximum of the thermometer is about 92 ; cool sea breeze sets in at night, reducing the heat to an endurable temperature for sleeping.

In 1880 special dues were imposed on the trate of the port for the construction of a new hariour, numely, 2 per cent. on imports, 1 per cent. on exports, tonnage dues, and a tax on fishing boats. Up to the time of the American occupation a large sum had been collected, but comparatively little progress had been made with the works; but in 1900 a sum of one million gold dollars was voted for the work.

Tramways run in the principal streets of the city, and a railway to Dagupan was opened to traffic throughout its entire length, 123 miles, on the 23 rd November, 1892. There is also a stoam roud to Malabon; and electric lights have been laid in the public squares and walks, in the husiness houses, and in the principal streets. Since American control, the roads and the sanitation of the city have been vastly improved. There are a marine arsenal and a patent slip at ('avite, on the opposite side of the Bay.

The city and its suburbs receive their drinking water ly pipes leading from Santalan, on the river lasig. The water is carried to fountains, distributed in convenient places through the streets, whence the inhahitants may draw for their domestic needs. The telephone system extends throughout the city and out as far as Malabon. Manila possesses many educational and charitable institutions, among others the hoyal and Pontifical University of St. Thomas, which is managed and maintaned by the Doninican Fathers. In this there are schools of theology and chureh daw, jurisprudence, notarial law, medicine, and pharmacy. The College of St. Thomas, which belongs to the University, maintains forty free scholarships for Spanish boys, who may pursue both primary and advanced studies. The College of San Juan de Letran, also under the Dominicans, devotes itself to the pducation of natives, and this college, as well as the other, is provided with an abundance of select scientific materials and with good physical and chemical outfits and exhibits and musemms of natural history and fine arts. The College of San José (St. Joseph) gives instruction in medicine and pharmacy. The Orphan Asylum of Cambobong, founded by the Ladies' Union at Manila in 1882, is in charge of the Augustinians and imparts elementary and advanced instruction and qualities boys for clerical situations both in public and business oftices. The Mandaloya Orphanage likewise under the care of the Augustinians and of the sisters of that order, gives to its inmates elementary instruction and teaches thom houschold duties and other accomplishnents suited to their sex. The St. Joscph's Home, founded in 1810, gives shelter to poor and demented chidren. The lospital of San Juan de Dios, founded by the Brotherhood of Misericordia in 1595, cares for whatever invalids present themselves. The Hospital of San Lazaro, founded in 1578 by the Franciscan order, is for the care of leprous patients. The Manila Monté de P'iedad and Savings Bank, organised in 1880, has several branches. There are four banks in Manila, the Banco Hispanol Filipino, the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, aml China, the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, which has also a branch in Iloilo and the International J3anking Corporation of New Fork. A Stock Exchange has also been introduced. There are numerous social societies, American ind Spanish, among which are the Spanish Casino, the German Union Casimo, the Mariquina Gun Club, the Gun Club of Sin Juan del Monte, the Manila Jockey Club, the Manila Lawn Temnis Club the Cycle Club of Manila, and two Theatres.

ILOILO

This port, which is the chief town of the populous province of the same name in the island of l'anay, is situated in lat. 10 deg. 48 min . W., near the south-eastern extremity of the island, close to the sea, on the border of the narrow channel formed by the opposite island of Gumaras. The town is built principally on low marshy ground, partly fronting the sea and partly along the left bank of a creek, or inlet, which runs towards Jaro, and after describing a semicircle again meets the sea near lloilo. Hloilo is the largest town on the Island of Panay. The harbour is well protected and the anchorage good, the island of Guimaras forming a sheltered passage. The depth of water on the var at the entrance to the creek or river Iloilo is about tive fathoms at low water, but at a short distance within it decreases to fiftecn feet and then deepens again. The river badly needs dredging; at wesent no steamer drawing more than $14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{ft}$. can enter with safety. At spring tides the town is partially covered with water, but notwithstanding this, it is a very healthy place. The high ground of Guimaras forms a kind of funnel with the I'anyy shore, and the result is that a calm is of rare occurrence, there being almost always a breeze of some kind. The N.E. breeze blows very strongly. It is much cooler in Jloilo than in Manila. The hetter class of houses in Iloilo are built on strong wooden posts, two or three feet in climeter, that reach to the roof, stone walls to the first floor, with wooden windows ahove and an iron roof. The poorer class of dwellings are flimsy structures of nipa, built on four stout posts. The means of communication with the interior are still very inadequate and retarl the development of the port.

During the last two years a considerable number of good houses have been built, and the town is fist resuming the state it was in before the bombardment. The streets and many private houses are now lit with electric light.

On the 23rd December, 1898, the Spanish Governor-General resident in Iloilo resigned, giving over the care of the town to the Mayor, or Alcalde of Iloilo, preparing with his troops and Government officials, naval, military and civil, to evacuate the place, which on the 25th December was accomplished.

On the 26 th December, 1898 , the town of lloilu, which for over a month had been entirely surrounded on the land side by hevolutionary forces, was delivered over to them by the Spanish Alcalde, and the I'hilippine Republic llag was hoisted on all the public buildings.

On the 28 ih December, 1898 , the United States forces, composed of the U.S.S. Baltimore and three transports with 3,800 troops, under the command of BrigadierGeneral Miller, arrived in front of Iloilo, but did not land, as the Revolutionary forces declined to give up the town unless under orders from Aguinaldo, their chief. Affirs in Luzon having come to an open rupture between the United States and the Revolutionary forces, the General commanding the United States expedition advised the foreign Consulates that hostilities would commence after 5 a.m. on the 12th February, and on the morning of the 11 th Felbruary, about 8.45 a.m., the first shot was fired. The Revolutionary forces set fire to the city, leaving it almost in ruins, and retired outside the city limits. 1loilo was immediately occupied by the Americans.

The principal manufacture in Iloilo for local consumption and export to Manila is that of pina, a cloth very finely made from the fibre of the pineapple leaf. Another cloth called jusi is woven from silk, and is made in white and colours. The country round tloilo is very fertile and is extensively cultivated. The crop of sugar for 1903-4 was estimated at about $1,650,000$ piculs. Tohacoo is also largely cultivated. lice is grown on a considerable scale, but locusts are very p'entiful in the island, and often do great damage to the cane and paddy. Earthquakes seldom occur, and now-a-days typhoons are rare in the district of Ibilo. Iloilo is about 250 miles distant from Manila. The principal traders are Chinese mestizos, who are very numerous in the port.

The island of Negros is extremely fertile and contributes three-fourths of the sugar shipped from Iloilo, the quality of which is excellent. The cultivation of hemp on a larger scale has been conmenced on this island

CEBU

This is the capital of the island of Cebu, and ranks with Iloilo among the ports of the lhilippines. It was at one time the seat of the administration of revenue for the whole of the lisayas, but this was removed to Manila in 1849. Cebu is a well-built town and possesses tine roads, but the people are devoid of commercial enterprise. The tride of Cehu consists principally of hemp, sugar, and copra. The neighbouring islands of Leyte, Mindanao and Camiguin possess extensive hemp plantations, a large proportion of the produce of which finds its way to Cebu for shipment. There are some very valuable and extensive coal deposits in the island of Cebu, but the mines have not as yet been worked with any enterprise.

Cebu is rapidly growing in importance as a trade centre and when the projected harbour improvements are carried into effect will quite likely be the principal port for the export of hemp.

After Australia this island is the largest in the world. It extends from about 7 deg. N. to 4 deg. S. latitude, and from 109 deg. to 118 E. longitude. Its length is about 750 miles, its greatest brealth 600 miles, and its average brealth is estimated at 350 miles. Its vast interior consists of almost impenetrable forests, which teem with animal life, but are sparsely populated by man. The soil is fertile, and in some parts near the coast the land is marshy. It was discovered by the Portuguese in 1526 , and they as well as the Spaniards, Dutcl, and English formed settlements on different parts of the coast, but none of these were long maintained. The Dutch claimsovereignty over the greater part of the southand west of the island, along the coast of which they maintain establishments; the territories of the Jritish North Borneo C'mpany, the Sultan of Brunei, and the Rajah of Sarawak extend over and along the north and north-eastern coast. The native states are insignificant and in a backward condition. The total population of Borneo is roughly estimated at $3,000,000$. The prorluctions are many and varied, and the mineral resources believed to be great. The Chinese, who have been settled in most Bornean towns for generations, conduct all the trading operations. The country generally is in an undeveloped condition. The natives are of the Malayan type, and are, as a rule, indolent and wanting in enterprise. A lisitish Protectorate exists over Brunei, Sarawak, and the territory of the British North Borneo Company.

SARAWAK

The territory of Sarawak comprises an area of about 40,000 square miles, with a population of about 000,000 , composed of various races. It is situated on the north-west coast of the island of Borneo, is intersected by many rivers navigable for a considerable distance inland, and commands about 400 miles of coast line. The sovereignty of the district from Tranong Datu to the entrance of the Samaharan liver was oltained from the Sultan of Brunei in the year 1842 hy Sir James Brooke, who became well known as Rajah Brooke of Sarawak. In 1861 a second cession was obtained, from the Sultan of Brunei, of all the rivers and land from the Samarahan river to Kadurong l'oint; in 1882 a third cession was obtained of one hundred miles of coast line and all the country and rivers that lie between Kadurong Point and the Baram river, including about three miles of eoast on the north-east side of the latter; and in 1885 another cession was obtained of the Trusan river, situated on the north of the mouth of the Brunei river. In 1888 a British Protectorate was established, and in 1890 the Rajah took possession of Limbang, which was approved of by H. M. (Govermment in August, 1891. The present hajah, H. H. Sir Charles Johnson Brooke, a.c.m..s., is a nephew of Sir James Brooke, and was born 3rd .June, 1829, succeeded 1868, married 1869 to Margaret de Windt. His heir-the Rajah Mudah—Charles Vyner Brooke, was born 26th September, 1874.

The country produces dimonds, gold, silver, antimony, quicksilver, coal, guttapercha, india-rubber, canes, rattans, camphor; beeswax, birdsnests, sago, pepper, and gambier. The principal towns are:-Kuching, the capital of Sarawak, situated on the Sarawak river, about 23 miles from its mouth, in latitude 1 deg. 32 min . N., longitude 110 deg. 38 min. E. (approximate). Claude Town, the principal town and fort on the Baram river, is about f $; 0$ miles inland. Bintulu, situate at the morth of the Bintulu river, is famons for its sago. Muka, a few miles upl the river of that name, is also noted for its sago and lilian timber: Oya, which lies about $1 t$ miles up the Oya river, and Matu about 5 miles up the Matu river, are both noted for their siggo. Sibu is situated about .60 miles, Kanowit about 100 miles, and Kapit ahout 160 miles up the liejang river. Reiang village, at the mouth of Rejang river, is noted for its lilian (iron wood) works. Kabong is situated at the mouth of the Kalaka river. Saribas lies about 80 miles up the river of the same name, which has a tidal wave or bore. Simang-gang is about 60 miles un the Batang Lupar river, which also has a bore. Simunjan is situated about 18 miles up the Sadong river, where the Govermment work a coal mine. Trusan is about 18 miles up the Trusan River and Limbang about 10 miles up the Limbang River, the latter river being noted for its sago. The country shows slow but steady progress. The revenue for 1900 was $$ 915,966$, against an expenditure of $$ 901,172$. In 1902 the revenue rose to $$ 1,792,039$ and the expenditure to $$ 1,139,287$. In 1903 , the revenue amounted to $$ 1,391,613$, and the expenditure to $$ 1,277,559$. The imports in 1903 amounted to $$ 5,849,629$, while the exports totalled $$ 7,512,440$. The export returns show an increase in value of three quarters of a million dollars compared with the returns for 1902. There is a military force which is armed, equipped and drilledafter the English model, the interior economy in barracks of the English Army being closely followed. The fort at Kuching is well armed with modern Armstrong B.L. guns, and provision is made for submarine mines. The force is recruited from Sepoys, Malays and Dyaks.

Harbour, buoy, and light dues:-Three cents per ton, payable on arrival, and. chargeable to all vessels of 5 tons and upwards.

BRITISH NORTII BORNEO

This territory, formerly known as Sabah, situated at the northern end of the island of Borneo, has a coast line of about 500 miles. The population is made up of Malays, Bajaus, Dusuns Sulus, Filipinos, and is supposed to number about 170,000 , which includes about 12,000 Chinese. The chief geographical fenture in the teritory is the mountain of Kina Balu, about 13,700 feet high. The principal river on the West coast is the Pardas ; but the country possesses many considerable and valuable rivers. On the East there are the Kinabatangan, Labuk, Sugut, Segama, and many others. The hest harbours are those of Gaya on the West const, Kudat on the North, and Sindakan on the East.

The climate is puticularly pleasant for the tropics; the days are rarely very hot while a blanket is often required at night; and very little inconvenience is experienced from insect pests, such as mosquitoes and the like. Hurricanes, earthquakes, and other natural disturbances are unknown. The seas are teeming with fish, and the export trade in clried and silted tish is increasing. Trade with Hongkong, especially in timber, is well established, and steamers for Hongkong and Singapore, whence the majority of the trade supplies are obtained, are frequent. Amongst the zoological productions of North Borneo are to be noted elephants, rhinoceros, doer of three kinds, wild cattle, pigs, bears, and pythons. Of game birds there are a few-argus, fire back, and Bulwer pheasants, wild duck, many varieties of wild pigeon and doves, snipe, and quail.

Sandakan has a magnificent harbour and is the chief place of trade. The imports include cloth, rice, hardware, minufactured goods of all kinds, opium, Chinese tolacco, Chinese coarse crockery, matches, biscuits, oil, sugar, &c. The chief exports are tobacco, timber, cutch and rattans, gutta-percha, india-rubber, birdsnests, seed pearls, bèche de mer, sharks' fins, camphor, cutch, tortoiseshell, beeswax, ayd other natural products, which are brought in from the interior, the neighbouring Sulu Archipelago, ©c.

Diamondiferous ground has been discovered on a tobacco estate on the Labuk River. It has been pronounced to be identical with the Kemberley Blue Clay, with pieces of carbon and burnt garnets in it. At the time of publication the report of the expert requested to examine samples had not been published.

The revenue of the territory for 1904 was expected to amount to $\$ 975,000$, and the estimated revenue for the current year is $\$ 1,096,000$. The imports in 1903 were valued at $\$ 3,229,310$, and the exports at $4,212,151$, Tobacco leaf represented half the value of the exports. Tobacco-planting promises to become a great and profitable industry, and the tobacoo ahready raised obtains a ready sale at very high prices. Cutch is extracted from mangrove bark and is being exported in increasing quantities. $\Lambda$ great effort to introduce the cultivation of the Chinese poppy (opium) failed. The population of the town of Sandakan, the capital of the territory, was 9,541 in 1901, of whom 101 were Luropeans and 3,878 Chinese. There are several sections of railway totalling about 100 miles now open, and work is in progress on three other sections agyregating 50 miles in length. The longest line runs from Jesselton to Beaufort, 75 miles, which was built at a cost of $£ 3,000$ per mile. Siandakan is distant 1,000 miles from Singapore, 1,200 miles from Hongkong and 660 miles from Manila. It becane connected telegraphically with Labuan on the 7th May, 1897, and was thus placed in communication with Europe, etc.

The territory of British North Borneo was acquired from the Sultans of Brunei and Sulu by cession for a small anmual payment in 1879-80, and the Dritish North Borneo Company was incorporated ly lioyal Charter on the 1st November, 1881. The area of the territory is 31,106 square miles, and the population is estimated at about 110,000 , of whom about 200 are European. In May, 1888, a British Protectorate was established. The following officers have administered the Government of the Yerritory since its acquisition by the Company :-1881-1887, W. H. Treacher ; 1887-1888, W. M. Crocker (acting) ; 1888-1891, C. V. Creagh, c.m.a.; 1891-1892, L. P. Beaufort (acting) ; 1892, C. V. Croagh, c.m.a; 1895, L. P. Beaufort ; 1900, Hugh Clifford, c.m.G.; 1901, E. W. Birch, c.m.G.; 1904, E. I'. Gueritz.

LABUAN

This, the smallest British Colony in Asia, was ceded to Great Britain by the Sultan of Brunei in 1846, and taken possession of in 1848. It is situated on the north-west const of Borneo in latitude 5 deg. 16 min . N., and longitude 115 deg. 15 min . E. It has an area of $30 \frac{1}{4}$ square miles, and is about six miles from the Borneo coast. Although Labuan possesses a fine port, has extensive coal deposits, and by situation seemed likely to become a depot for the trade of the north coast of Borneo, it has only partially fulfilled the expectations formed of it. The produce of Brunei finds a market in Labuan, but the volume of the trade is small. There are sago mills on the island, where the raw material is converted into flour, for export chiefly to Singapore. These mills were erected by influential Chinese introduced by the Governor from Singapore ; they have also put up tapioca mills and have arranged to plant 500 acres a year until 5,0 o acres have been planted. Cocoanuts are being planted on the same land. There is regular steamship comınunication with Singapore, Sandakan and Manila as well as with the local ports. The Government is now administered by the British North Borneo Company, having been handed over to it by the Imperial Government in 1889. The population in 1901 was 8,411 , of whom 51 were Europeans and 17 Eurasians, the remainder being chiefly Chinese and Malays. The Chinese, who number over a thousand, are the chief traders, and most of the industries of the island are in their hands. There are about forty Europeans now, including Government officials, the staff of the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company, the Coal Point mines and traders. The Labuan Coalfields Company, Limiterl, are lessees of the Coal Mines in the island, and are developing a considerable trade in the coal. which is largely supplied to H.M's ships. The present output is about 14,000 tons a year. The revenue is chiefly derived from the farming ont of licences to sell tobacco, spirits, opium, and fish. When the administration was transferred to the chartered company in 1889, the revenue was $\$ 20,{ }^{\prime} 00$; in 1903 it amounted to $\$ 56,260$. The imports in 1903 were $\$ 2,629,741$; exports $\$ 1,875,993$, showing a marked increase on the returns of the previous year.

[^0]:    - Substituted for the Rules ngreed upon in 1865 between the Chnese Goverament and Her Britannic Majesty's Plenipotentiary.

[^1]:    - See Ordinance 23 of 1897 .
    + A modilication allowing export in smaller quantitiea than one cheat was subsequently agreed to.

[^2]:    " In the negotiations now baing condncted with Great Britain for the anendment " of the Com nercial Treaties, a mubul arringenent has been come to providing for "the imposition of additional taxes, in compensation for the abolition of all linds of "lekin and other imposts on gands, prohibited by Article VIII. After payment of "interest and sinking fund on the existing foreign loan, to the extent to which lekin " is thereto pledged, these alditional taxes shall be allocated to the various Provinces "to make up deficiencies and replace revenue, in order that no hardships may be "entailed on thetn. With a view to preserving the original intention underlying the " proposal to increase the duties in c mpensation for the loss of revenue derivel from
    "lekin and other imposts on goods, it is further stipulated that the surtaxes shall not "be appropriated for other purposes, shall not form part of the Imperial Maritime
    "Custons revenue proper, and shall in no case be pledyed as security for any new "foreign loan.
    "It is therefore necessary to memorialize for the issue of an Edict, giving effect "to the above stipulations and directing the Board of Reveuue to find out what "proportion of the provincial revenues derived from lekin of all kinds, now about "to be abolished, each Province has hitherto had to remit, and what proportion it "has been entitled to retain, so that, when the Article comes into operation, due " apportionment may be made accordingly, thus providing the Provinces with funds " available for local expenditure and displaying equitable and just treatment towards "all,"

    On the lst instant an Imperial Dearee "Let action, as requested, be taken," was issued, and we now do ourselves the hon:ur reverently to transcribe the same for your information.

[^3]:    *For duty on Opium see Convention signed in 1885 also the Treats of 1002.

[^4]:    Article IV. of Rule $\mathrm{S}_{\mathrm{S}} .5$ appended to the Tiriff of 1858 is rescinded.
    Pulse and been-cake may be henceforth exported from Tungchow and Newthwang, and from all other ports in China open by Treatr, on the same terms and conditions as are applied to other Native produce by the Regulation bearing date the Sth December last ; that is to say, they may le shipped on paymeut of Tariff duty at the port of shipment, and discharred at any Chinese port on paynent of haff-duty, with power to claim drawlack of the half-duty if re-exported.

[^5]:    Art. VII.-Japanese subjects shall be at liberty to traffic in any article owned by Corean subjects, paying therefore in Japanese coin. Corean subjects, for purposes of trade, may freely circulate among themselves at the open ports of Corea such Japanese coin as they may have possession of in business transactions.

    Japanese subjects shall be at liberty to use in trade or to carry away with them the copper coin of Corea.

    In case any subject of either of the two countries comnterfeit the coin of either of them, he shall be punished according to the laws of his own country.

    Art. VIII.-Corean subjects shall have the full frution of all and every article which they have become possessed of either by purchase or gift from Japanese subjects.

    Art. IX.-In case a boat caspatched by a Japanese surveying vessel to take soundings along the Corean coasts, as provided for in article VII. of the Treaty of Amity and Friendship, should be prevented from returning to the vessel, on account either of bad weather or the ebb tide, the headman of the locality shall accommodate the boat party in a suitable house in the neighbourhood. Articles required by them for their comfort shall be furnished to them by the local authorities, and the outlay thus incurred shall afterwards be refunded to the latter.

    Art. X.-Although no relations as yet exist between Corea and foreign countries, yet Japan has for many years back maintained friendly relations with them; it is therefore natural that in case a vessel of any of the countries of which Japan thus cultivates the friendship should be stranded by stress of weather or otberwise on the coasts of Corea, those on board shall be treated with hinciness by Corean subjects, and should such persons ask to be sent lack to their homes they shall be delivered over by the Corean Government to an Agent of the Japanese Govermment residing at one of the open ports of Corea, requesting him to send them back to their native countries, which request the Agent shall never fail to comply with.

    Art. XI.-The foregoing ten articles, together with the Regulations for Trade annexed hereto, shall be of equal effect with the Treaty of Amity and friendship, and therefore shall be faithfully observed by the Governments of the two countries. Should it, however, be found that any of the above articles actually cause embarrassment to the commercial intercourse of the two nations and that it is necessary to. modify them, then either Govermment, submitting its proposition to the other, shall negotiate the modification of such articles on giving one year's previous notice of their intention.

    Signed and sealed this twentr-fourth day of the eighth month of the ninth year Meiji, and two thousand five hundred and thirty-sixth since the accession of M. M. [^19]:    town is now in the enjoyment of an excellent water supply, large Waterworks having been completed in 1887. The harbour is much exposed, but two breakwaters, of an aggregate length of 12,000 feet, have been built and are so projected as to practically enclose the whole of the anchorage, leaving an entrance 650 feet wide between these extremities. There is a pier 2,000 feet long at which vessels may load or discharge. A graving dock was opened on the 26th April, 1897. It is built of large blocks of granite and is 351 feet on the blocks, its length from the outside of the entrance to the head is 419 feet 10 inches and from the outside caisson to the head 400 feet 3 inches. The width of the entrance is 60 feet 8 inches at the top and 45 feet 11 inches at the bottom. The depth is 35 feet 1 inch on the inside, and 31 feet 2 inches on the sill. The depth of water on the blocks is 27 feet 2 inches at spring tides, 26 feet 2 inches at ordmary springs, and 19 feet 8 inches at low water of spring tides. This is the smaller or No. 2 Dock of the Company. The No. 1 Dock, completed at the end of 1898 , is 478 ft .10 in . on the hlocks and has a depth inside of 36 ft .3 in . and on the sill of $3 \pm \mathrm{ft} .1 \mathrm{in}$., the depth of water on the blocks being 28 ft .10 in . at springs, 27 ft . 11 in a.t ordinary springs, and 21 ft .4 in . at low water of springs. Yokohama is well supplied with lintels. There are four English daily papers published in the port namely, the Jupan Gazette, Japon Merald, Japan Daily Mail, and Japan Daily Advertiser, and several weeklies.

    The Japanese population of Yokohama numbered, on the 31st December, 1902, 314,333 ; at the end of 1900 the number was below 200,000 . The number of foreign residents, exclusive of Chinese, was 2,447 , of whom 1,089 were British; 527 Americans; 270 Germans, and 150 French. The Chinese population was returned at 3,800 .
