LABUAN

This, the smallest British Colony in Asia, was ceded to Great Britain by the Sultan of Brunei in 1846, and taken possession of in 1848. It is situated on the north-west coast of Borneo in latitude 5 deg. 16 min. N., and longitude 115 deg. 15 min. E. It has an area of 301 square miles, and is about six miles from the Borneo coast. Although Labuan possesses a fine port, has extensive coal deposits, and by situation seemed likely to become a depot for the trade of the north coast of Borneo, it has only partially fulfilled the expectations formed of it. The produce of Brunei finds a market in Labuan, but the volume of the trade is small. There are sago mills on the island, where the raw material is converted into flour, for export chiefly to Singapore. These mills were erected by influential Chinese introduced by the Governor from Singapore; they have also put up tapioca mills and have arranged to plant 500 acres a year until 5,000 acres have been planted. Cocoanuts are being planted on the same land. There is regular steamship communication with Singapore, Sandakan and Manila as well as with the local ports. The Government was administered by the British North Borneo Company from 1890 until January 1st, 1906, when the Colonial Office again resumed direct control. The population in 1911 was 6,545, Europeans and Eurasians, the remainder being chiefly Chinese and Malays. The Chinese, who number over a thousand, are the chief traders, and most of the industries of the island are in their hands. There are about thirty Europeans now, including Government officials, the staff of the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company, and traders. The Labuan Coalfields Company, Limited, are lessees of the coal mines in the island, but ceased operations in January, 1911. The output in 1910 was over 90,000 tons. The revenue is chiefly derived from the farming out of licences to sell tobacco, spirits, opium, and fish.

Ants Cannot Remain near Atlas= Treated Wood

HE insecticidal properties of ATLAS PRESERVATI E "A" will rist you of this pest by the simple process of painting or spraying the preservative on to your timber. This needs emphasis. There is no costly plant required to apply this wood preserver. Atlas "A" will absolutely protect timber from the White Ant, Borer Beetle, and other insects. It prevents. as well as arrests, Fungus, Dry and Wet Rot. Atlas "A" reaches you in a highly concentrated form capable of dilution on the spot: thus all woodwork in situ can be treated quickly and efficiently where it stands. No heavy expenses importing durable timbers from long distances, or time, trouble and expense in sending timber away for treatment by special plant. Atlas "A" impregnates the wood by capilliary action. It toughens the wood fibres and hardens it into durable timber. Bulk timbers easily treated by simple immersion. -

Atlas treated wood resists fire in the ratio of 4 to 1. It is non-corrosive, and metal in contact with it is unaffected.

It is cheap, efficient, and durable.

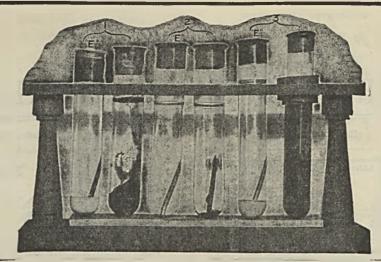

Atlas "A" is stocked by our following agencies. Order a trial drum, and get immediate results.

PREVENTS BOILER CORROSI

THE above illustrates the action of Atlas Boiler Preservative "E" in precipitating incrusting solids from feed waters and preventing corrosion. Into each Tube was placed an equally bright nail. To the left-hand Tube of each pair (marked "E") was added a few drops of, ATLAS "E" and the other left untreated. The results shewn are eight months after tubes were prepared.

OCOMOTIVE BOILERS:- For efficiency and economy treat the boilers internally with a suitable re-agent. ATLAS "E" softens and disintegrates existing scale and prevents further formation. It immediately arrests corrosion, cleanses out the affected parts leaving the healthy metal clean and dry; and prevents further action by neutr lising all matter productive of acid reaction. ATLAS "E" means Loco, boilers run from 4 to 8 weeks without opening.

TATIONARY BOILERS - Fuel consumption and power costs are directly increased by the thickness of scale on plates and tubes. High pressures render scale of any thickness a direct menace to the safety of boilers. Grease is another danger in modern high pressure boilers using condensed feed. ATLAS "E" eliminates corrosion, destroys grease and prevents scale.

MARINE BOILERS: - Many vessels using ATLAS "E" are running boilers upwards of six months without emptying. ATLAS "E" removes existing scale and oxide deposits, cleanses corroded parts, and destroys grease. No chipping or scaling: ATLAS treated boilers only require brushing out.
